Dear Chamber Members,

I hope everyone is enjoying this incredible summer! It's August and that means everyone is operating full swing! We hope your businesses are bountiful and busy!

Our next member meeting is September 12th, at 10:30 am at Sunrise Cafe. Please join us at 12 noon when we open our meeting to members. We will also be emailing out membership packets near the end of August so please keep an eye out for those. If you have any questions about this process, just shoot us an email us at info@cooperlandingchamber.com and we'll answer any questions.

In advance of our membership drive and renewals, I've attached a great article about the value of Chamber of Commerce for small businesses. I hope you enjoy it, and feel free to pass it on to any non-members who you think would benefit from joining the Cooper Landing Chamber.

We hope to plan some fun events this fall and winter, so stay tuned. Also, please contact us if you plan to operate during the winter season. (I know its hard to imagine that winter is right around the corner!) We'll make sure to promote your business on our website and in our newsletters.

Take care everyone and have a great time watching the leaves become our beautiful fall colors!

Stephanie

Why Join Your Local Chamber of Commerce

americanbusinessmag.com/2012/05/why-join-your-local-chamber-of-commerce/

By Betsy Demitropoulos

Some business owners might say their schedule is demanding enough at the moment, and the thought of adding one more activity to their busy calendar is unbearable.

So why should they try to cram time into their already hectic schedules to join and actively participate in their local chamber of commerce?

Because membership in the local chamber offers numerous benefits and keeps business owners on top of important, ever-changing issues and trends within their community and local marketplace.

Not only that, but research points out that consumers are more likely to do business with a company if it's a member of their local chamber of commerce.

According a research study by The Shapiro Group, Inc. and Market Street Services, when consumers know that a small business is a member of their local chamber of commerce, they are 44 percent more likely to think favorably of it and 63 percent more likely to purchase goods or services from the company in the future.

If you still don't think you have time to join and participate in your local chamber of commerce, consider the following:

- Most consumers (59 percent) think that being active in the local chamber of commerce is an effective business strategy overall. It's 29 percent more effective, however, for communicating to consumers that a company uses good business practices and 26 percent more effective for communicating that a business is reputable.
- If a company shows that it's highly involved in its local chamber (e.g., sits on the chamber board), consumers are 12 percent more likely to think that its products stack up better against its competition.
- When a consumer thinks that a company's products stack up better against the competition because the company is highly involved in its local chamber of commerce, it is because he or she infers that the company is trustworthy, involved in the community and is an industry leader.
- When consumers know that a restaurant franchise is a member of the chamber of commerce, they are 40 percent more likely to eat at the franchise in the next few months.
- When consumers know that an insurance company is a member of the chamber of commerce, they are 43 percent more likely to consider buying insurance from it.

How does all that sound? If your business is a restaurant or an insurance company, isn't it fantastic to hear the news that consumers are more likely to choose your business over a competing, non-member business because you're a member of your local chamber of commerce? Are you convinced yet that you should join your local chamber if you aren't a member already?

If not, read this top 10 list of reasons why you should join your local chamber of commerce supplied by 10 local chambers across the United States.

1. Membership brings credibility to your business. You can increase positive perception among consumers and business owners when you're identified as a member of a chamber of commerce.
   – Dearborn Chamber of Commerce in Michigan
2. Increase your visibility in the community. As a new member of the chamber of commerce, you will be listed in the chamber newsletter, e-newsletter, on Facebook and have the opportunity to be highlighted in other chamber publications. You also can grow your business by advertising with the chamber and sponsoring events. The chamber may also promote your grand opening/ ribbon-cutting ceremony and assist with any public relations efforts.
   – Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce in Texas
3. Create networking opportunities. Chambers have numerous committees and serving on one of them provides numerous networking opportunities as well as professional leadership development. You can build your business while promoting developments of keen interest to local businesses and the community at large.
   – Columbia County Chamber of Commerce in Georgia
4. Gain a voice in government. The local chamber takes on the tough issues and opposes new regulations, taxes, fees, assessments and costs directed at small businesses. It also helps protect the principles of free enterprise and aids businesses in being treated fairly.
   – Yuma Chamber of Commerce in California
5. Make business contacts. The chamber's most fundamental mission is to generate more business activity for the community. The chamber initiates more business-to-business commerce and more opportunities for networking and connecting local professionals than is available through most other local organizations.
   – Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce in South Carolina
6. Receive chamber newsletters. Newsletters provide new member information, interesting information about operating a local business, articles about the local community, a community calendar and details about up-and-coming chamber events, among other things.
   – Teton Valley Chamber Of Commerce in Idaho
7. Acquire customer referrals. Every day, your local chamber receives calls from individuals and businesses looking for potential vendors, and chamber members typically recommend chamber members.
   – Chattanooga Area Chamber of Commerce in Tennessee
8. Chamber events and programs. Chamber events and programs provide members with great opportunities to get to know new people and expand their prospect base. Chamber events are innovative and fun ways to help members meet potential customers, clients and vendors— and generate new business leads.
   – Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce in California

9. Promotion and publicity. With a chamber membership, you can reach potential clients through member exclusive advertising and opportunities for business-to-business advertising and publicity.
   – Pike County Chamber of Commerce in Illinois
10. Access to members-only discounts and services. These differ from chamber to chamber. For example, the Sandy Area Chamber of Commerce in Oregon has a member-tomember discount program where a chamber member will receive $10 off any phone or accessory purchased from the local Verizon Wireless retailer in Sandy, which is a member of the chamber.
    – Sandy Area Chamber of Commerce in Oregon

Small businesses represent the largest segment by number of most local chamber membership rolls. Results in the research study by The Shapiro Group, Inc. and Market Street indicate the impact of local chamber membership on small businesses is very powerful. If a consumer knows a small business is a member of its local chamber, the business enjoys a 44 percent increase in its consumer favorability rating, a 51 percent increase in consumer awareness, a 57 percent increase in its local reputation and a 63 percent increase in the likelihood that consumers will patronize the business in the future.

The table shows the impacts among key demographic and geographic subgroups.

Research indicates that chamber membership stimulates business-to-business commerce in the local community. Other businesses in town are more likely to do business with you and your company if you are a member of the local chamber. Because a major part of a small business typically comes from business-to-business services, it is essential to maintain a positive standing within the local business community.

But it takes time for a business to establish its image and reputation in the community, says Dr. Craig Shoemaker, a marketing professor and the chair of the marketing department at St. Ambrose University in Davenport, Iowa. He says people like doing business with companies they like and trust, but that trust must be earned.

“The more a firm is networked with its community, the quicker and easier it is to establish a trust bond with customers,” says Dr. Shoemaker.

Prior to his time at St. Ambrose, Dr. Shoemaker owned and operated a marketing services business in Phoenix, Arizona, which was a member of the local chamber of commerce. He says chamber membership was very beneficial to him and his marketing business.

“The chamber was a great place to network and meet people who shared a common interest in serving their community and their customers,” he says.

Dr. Shoemaker says all companies face common opportunities and problems. He found the chamber-sponsored “president’s roundtable” to be quite valuable.

“In these forums, you could discuss your challenges and problems to a group of people who understood and had faced many of the same issues,” he says. “There was a comfort in knowing that your situation was not unique.”

Ready to join your local chamber, if you aren’t already? Keep in mind, however, that you can’t just be a member of the local chamber to reap the benefits of chamber membership. Paying your annual dues just isn’t enough. You must also make an investment of time and effort in chamber activities and become involved. Simply put, what you get out of chamber membership is directly relative to what you put in.

“If a firm is to gain maximum value from membership, it must be an active participant in chamber-sponsored events,” Dr. Shoemaker says. “Chambers plan events so that its members benefit. Only by participation, can a firm get maximum benefit.”

Cooper Landing Library News

Dear Friends of the Library, Neighbors and Patrons,

The Cooper Landing Community Library is 33 years old and going strong. Over the years we have transitioned from a 620 square foot log building with a woodstove for heat to a 1,240 square foot facility with oil heat and a new woodstove. We have also upgraded the windows, doors, blinds and generally found ways to improve the building and reduce our overhead. We received (donated by Barbara Anderson, our second Director) our first computer in 1998, and now have five public access computers plus one for librarians' use. Thanks to the Online with Libraries (OWL) Project, we now have video-conferencing capabilities and wireless access for all our visitors. Our traditional card catalog system has been replaced with a computer-based catalog, but unfortunately, this electronic system is no longer supported and is not accessible by the public.

In order to purchase the upgrades needed to provide modern, efficient library services, we are seeking funding from the Rasmuson Foundation. Our goal is to provide a "cloud-based" catalog on our website that our patrons can access from home or the library. New automation will also allow us to bar code our collection to provide electronic checkout services, improved inventory tracking, and instant information on the availability of books and videos patrons request. Please know it is our goal to keep all existing library card numbers when the new card-scanning system is put in place.

Our library also needs to comply with a request from the Community Club to repair or replace the existing retaining wall surrounding the library. The railroad ties have been hit many times, are slowly deteriorating and are starting to fall down. They are also a haven for carpenter ants. For this reason, we have decided to replace them with landscaping block.

The total cost for these two projects is $21,120. The cost for the needed technology upgrades is $5,700. The landscaping project is $15,420. While we are requesting $19,000 from the Rasmuson Foundation, we need to generate at least $2,120 in matching funds. A portion of this money will come from the library's savings account, and we are asking our patrons to help with the rest. Donations are tax deductible and can be as small as $5.

Donations can be made in person at the library or mailed to PO Box 517, Cooper Landing, Alaska 99572. Donation receipts will be provided upon request. We work hard to meet the needs of our community, our summer visitors and our Cooper Landing School students. We truly appreciate any and all donations to help us continue to make this the best little library in Alaska.

Loussac Library has replaced the person responsible for InterLibrary Loans and we are once again able to request materials not available at our library.

The children's summer reading program ended July 27. Library hours will revert to Monday through Wednesday 1-3; Thursday 12-7; Friday 11-5; and Saturday 10:30-3:30

Cooper Landing Chamber Senior Citizen Corp. Inc. Senior Links

Congratulations to Connie and Jim Bensler and their fine fund raising breakfast volunteer staff of friends and family for the successful Pancake Breakfast July 23 at the community hall! Your hard work is much appreciated! (breakfast pictures)

Coming up on August 2 is the monthly CLSCCI Board of Directors meeting at 1:30 in Helen Gwin Commons in Eagles View. The General Membership meeting is scheduled for Aug. 9 beginning with the potluck luncheon at 11:30, followed by the business meeting and then a couple rounds of Historical Alaska Bingo with prizes. Everyone interested is invited to attend both meetings.

The annual Appreciation Lunch at Kenai Princess Wilderness Lodge is on Aug. 16 beginning at noon. Sexy Senior Dumpster Cleaners, CLSCCI Board members, and CLSCCI Endowment Board members will be especially appreciated. Call Mayme Ohnemus for more information.

Thanks to Jacque Greenman and Anne Engbers for offering to share Senior Haven with the world during the Providence Senior Housing Fair in Anchorage on Aug. 24 at the Anchorage Senior Center.

Cooper Landing Historical Society & Museum

Just a quick shot of a portion of the very cluttered museum office is shown in the "before" picture. Board member Al Fleetwood made an offer during the July 9 Board meeting to pay for shelving for the office if it were installed within 30 days! I have been scrambling! There's a man who knows how to get something done! Shelving and etc. was purchased and is on site. I am gradually getting stuff out of the way for installation. Next month I will post on the Gem the "after" picture showing a neatly organized office.

Kate Stevenson continues to do her garage sale magic and brings in funds with which to pay bills. Thank you, Kate! Next sale is August 13 and we have the promise of new-to-us treasures!

Thanks to Greg Chilman, our newest volunteer, who is taking many docent shifts these days as well as doing some maintenance work.

CLHS looks forward to hosting the Oct. 1 meeting of the Kenai Peninsula Historical Association at the CL community hall. More on that next month. The annual membership meeting of CLHS is scheduled for Sept. 17 at 1 pm in the museum. All interested are invited to attend both meetings.

Cheers! ~Mona Painter
